Tables of Many Pieces.

Prisoners in penitentiaries make some wonderful and curious things. Their output indicates that their time is not particularly valuable to them and that a lifetime, after all, especially if within prison walls, is long. Recently a consignment of four tables from the Western Penitentiary, at Pittsburg, received by Sheriff Lee, bears out the foregoing. Two of the tables are in the county bastile, one in the home of the sheriff's brother-in-law, Ebon Bower, in Bellefonte, and the fourth is at Tusseyville, in the home of C. A. Miller, also a brother-in-law of Sheriff Lee.

One of the tables exhibited in the hallway of the jail is made up of 24,600 pieces of all kinds of hard wood, some pieces being less than a quarter of an inch square and others ranging from one to two inches. The inlaid work represents the most beautiful designs, each piece of wood, no matter how small, joined to the surrounding pieces so perfectly that only the different colors of the wood reveal the dividing lines. Some designs are worked out in varying sizes. So cleverly are many of these arranged that when viewed from different angles some of the pieces of wood seem to be raised a half inch or more above the others. The surface of the table, however, is perfectly level and smooth.

Hackenberg-Condo.

Benjamin F. Hackenberg and Miss Ida Condo, both of Spring Mills, were married at the home of the bride Wednesday, 14th inst., by Rev. J. Max Lantz. The groom is a traveling salesman for a candy firm, and has had headquarters at Spring Mills for some time. The bride is a daughter of the late Jere Condo, and is well known throughout this locality.

Millheim borough made application for a county bridge over Elk Creek where the Peters road crosses it, and on Friday Prof. C. R. Neff, Hon. J. H. Wetzel and Col. John A. Woodward will pass on the proposition in the capacity of viewers.

PAYOLING DAIRY FARM.

An Adjunct of the Continental Milk Condensing Plant—Future Purposes.

The following article taken from the Lock Haven Democrat is of special interest to a number of the Reporter readers because of the fact that the farmers in Penns Valley are beginning to give dairying more attention every year, and further since many of them are now patrons of the concern of which the gentlemen named are the head: This most interesting enterprise is managed by George Ohl, of Mill Hall, who has had many years of experience both technical and practical in dairy relations until he is now a recognized authority in his line. R. B. Page, president of the Continental Condensed Milk Company, is also an experienced dairyman and is assisting in the infusion of the best modern dairy methods in this particular enterprise.

The Payoling dairy is attracting more than local interest, not so much of what can be constructed in an elaborate way as to accomplish great and modern ends and achievements in as inexpensive manner as possible and that which is within the means of almost every one who contemplate dairying as a business.

The selection of the herd has been one of the chief sources of the great success with which this dairy has already established a reputation and the man who buys from this stock dairy knows that he is getting good value for his money. This dairy is a medium through which the establishing of a better grade of milk producing cows can be secured at moderate prices. Their terms are such that any and all persons who desire better herds can obtain them from the Payoling dairy. Almost daily can be seen here experts, men from some state, as Michigan, Wisconsin, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, etc., who have heard of the transformation of the old style farm barn to an up to date barn. There you will find cement floors, troughs, stanchions, salt wells, water basins, silos, electric light, electric motors, milk house, box stalls, calf pen and stall, and there is just being installed a Sharpless latest improved milking machine that is claimed to be very easy on the cows and preferred by the cow to hand milking and much more sanitary.

The expert visitors are loud in the praise of the great accomplishments wrought by Messrs. Ohl and Page. An exceedingly complimentary remark was given to Mr. Ohl by the director of the Massachusetts State Agricultural department on Mr. Ohl's knowledge of line breeding. This is one of the many features that brings many dairymen to purchase dairy cows from this already well established industry. The exceedingly high bred sire at the head of the Payoling herd is valued at $4000, this possibly is the best that has ever been seen in Clinton county, and is only a little over a year old.

The improvements about the barn and in the herd are not the only features, here in a very short time will be instituted a thoroughly balanced ration to show the ordinary farmer how to obtain the greatest results with the least possible expense.

Abundant success is assured and the county in general will be greatly benefitted through this much too long delayed enterprise. Four or five cars more of thoroughbred and high grade cows will be added to the dairy to take the place of many that were sold in the last ten days.

Deaths of Centre Countians.

Thomas Snyder, of near Vail, aged seventy-seven years.

Christian Reese, aged seventy-one years, nine months, of Taylor twp.

Mrs. Phoebe Houtz, wife of John Houtz, in Bellefonte, aged forty-eight years.

Miss Fannie Bowersox, a resident of Middleburg, aged sixty-four years. She at one time lived in Centre county.

Charles R. Kurtz, editor of the "Centre Democrat," last week accepted the chairmanship of the publicity committee of the Democratic State Committee, and as a result will spend several days each week in Harrisburg until the November election. His work will be to direct the publicity end of the campaign in the state, and the fact that he was selected from among all the Democratic editors in Pennsylvania is in itself a compliment to him personally and a tribute to his ability.

The Ladies' World for September can really be called a remarkable number, because of its unusual contents. It starts with a narration of one woman to another of How it Feels to Marry Two Men, and the experience is told with a frankness that is very appealing. Then there is the feature, What happened to Mary, which is eventually to run for some time.

The Lutheran S. S. Picnic.

The several Sunday-schools in the Centre Hall Lutheran charge held a picnic on Thursday in the grove opposite the Georges Valley church. The attendance was quite large and a thorough picnic spirit prevailed. There were representatives present from all of the schools, the total attendance being estimated at from four to five hundred.

The grove was in splendid condition for a picnic, and seats and stands had been put in place, as well as water and ice provided. Over the main entrance was an arch of evergreen, and from twigs were formed the word "Welcome." This work was done by the Sunday-school connected with the Cross church, and their previous attention to the grove added comfort and pleasure to the occasion.

The three former pastors of the charge had been invited to join in the festive occasion. Dr. Fisher and Rev. Rearick were present. Rev. Bieber, who had fully intended to be present, was obliged to remain at home on account of sickness in the family.

There was no formal program, but shortly after the noon hour there was a voluntary gathering at the temporary speaker's stand, and after a few introductory remarks by Rev. Barry, the present pastor, Dr. Fisher made an informal address. It was a sort o' outpouring of the soul to his former parishioners, and no one present failed to absorb the sentiments expressed. Rev. Rearick followed with expressions very much along the same line, and made the singing of the doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction a fitting conclusion.

A permanent organization was formed by electing Philip A. Auman, president, and T. M. Gramley, secretary, to serve for one year. Each of the Sunday-schools were instructed to elect two representatives, who will be the working force and will have power to select the place and time for the next gathering.

Centre Hall Wins in 12th.

By scoring eight runs in the twelfth inning, the Centre Hall base ball team administered the worst defeat Rebersburg has met this season. Score, 16 to 8. The game was played Saturday, at Rebersburg, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the Civil War veterans.

The score stood a tie, 8 to 8, at the end of the eighth inning, and remained so until Centre Hall took their turn at the bat the beginning of the twelfth. Auman, who had been pitching effective ball up to this time, went to pieces under the heavy hitting of the visitors. Eight runs were chalked up by clean, hard hitting, and although Rebersburg made a bold effort to score in their half when they filled the bases with none out, a double play shattered all hopes of a victory, and the cheering which up to this time would have done justice to a Shibe park crowd, suddenly ceased, and a dejected lot of fans left the grounds before the last man was retired. The lead was too big to overcome, and Centre Hall took home with them a game in which all odds were against them. They got no close decisions from the umpires and at one time the game threatened to come to an abrupt ending when Bradford was called out on third when chances for a ninth inning victory were bright. The Centre Hall boys never won games by favors from the umpire, but nevertheless want all that is due them. In this particular instance the third baseman admitted he had not touched the runner, and as the arbiter was in no position to see the play, he guessed at it, with the result that the boys from Penns Valley lost a grand opportunity to win the game in the ninth inning. The big block of runs in the twelfth, however, showed 'em up, as a rooter from Millheim was wont to say, and proved that the best team won.

Ross pitched the entire game for the local club, and in the extra innings became more effective.

Pine Stump S. S. Picnic.

On Saturday the Pine Stump Sunday-school held its annual picnic in the beautiful grove, owned by William Tate, about one half mile north of the school house. It was an ideal day, cheerful sun shine, balmy breezes the entire day. There was a large attendance of lovely maidens; the young laddies were there too, gay and well groomed, gentlemanly in their deportment, and kind and attentive to the wants of the gentler sex. The matrons with their care takers, the most needed of all, were there too, with words of cheer and happy smiles to gladden and help the younger ones enjoy the day in sports and pastime. But the great joy came when the fathers and mothers from their bountiful store houses had provided and selected the richest and best, from the fatted calf down to the tender fowl, fresh from the coop, sandwiches, pies, and stacks of delicious cakes, towering heavenward, and O, how inviting!"*

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS.

Reporter Subscribers' Correspondent Column—Interesting Communications.

FREEPORT, Ill., Aug. 26th, 1912.

Dear Friend:

Inclosed you will find one dollar to advance my subscription to August, 1913. We have had splendid crop weather thus far all season. Plenty of moisture and a few very heavy rains, also several real cool spells, but not too cold to effect plant growth. Small grain is yielding immensely. Some farmers report as high as ninety bushels of oats per acre, and other small grain is yielding proportionately large. The writer has a fine piece of winter wheat on his farm that he expects to thresh out forty bushels per acre.

Corn will be a light crop in this locality on account of the ravages of the white grub. One can see large fields of red, dwarfed and dying corn on nearly every farm in this section.

The timothy meadows, especially old meadows, too, were badly effected by the grub. The rake would roll up large sections of the sod while raking up the hay. The writer does not have data on the yield of grubs per acre but could venture a guess that the yield would equal in bushels some of the common farm crops grown by some of our shiftless farmers.

Oats are retailing at 30c per bushel; corn, 75c per bushel; potatoes, $1 per bushel; apples, which are a light crop, $1.20 per bushel. Hay is worth $15 per ton and the tendency is for an advance to $20 per ton on this commodity.

The berries and grapes are plentiful. The peach trees were all killed by the hard winter, but peaches seem to be plentiful on the market, selling at from $1.50 to $2.00 per bushel.

Pastures are good and prices of stock very high.

Political sentiment seems to favor Roosevelt in this locality.

The writer was pleased to notice the advance stand taken by the editor of the Reporter in the matter of granting franchises to public utility concerns. Perpetual franchises acquired without any money consideration would be considered a valuable asset in the larger municipalities and would be worth considerable in a town the size of Centre Hall. Franchise life and rights figure very prominently when transfers are considered or are about to be made. All ordinances framed with a view of granting franchises to public service corporations should be considered in their future bearings, as well as present aspects. Long franchise rights, on easy terms, very often prove a great hindrance to the material development of certain communities in after years.

In closing this article the writer takes the liberty to again commend the editor on the advance stand he took in defending the future rights of his community against the greed of corporations in the matter of the proposed electric light ordinance.

Vonada—Walker.

The Methodist parsonage at Spring Mills was the place of the marriage on last Saturday of Charles F. Vonada, of Sylvan Grove, Kansas, and Miss Flora Walker, of Centre Hall, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, the marriage having been performed by Rev. J. Max Lantz.

The young couple met at Centre Hall about a year ago, when Mr. Vonada was east on a visit to his grandfather, Samuel D. Burris, near Centre Hall. Mr. Vonada enlisted in the regular army, and on his enlistment expiring he began farming operations in Kansas, in the vicinity of Sylvan Grove, to which place he will take his bride, leaving here today (Thursday.) They will begin housekeeping at once.

The Reporter extends its congratulations, and wishes them a long, happy and prosperous life.

Creameryman Meets With Accident.

Charles Sheffer, manager of the Dewart creamery, met with an accident several miles west of Winfield when his auto plunged down a steep bank, throwing the occupant out of the car and badly bruising and cutting him. Mr. Sheffer was traveling from New Berlin to Winfield, the roads being in a miserable shape from the recent rains and floods which have visited that section, and at a point along the road where a temporary bridge had been built to take the place of one that had been washed out by the high waters of some time ago, he made the mistake of getting on the road leading to where the old bridge stood instead of taking the road leading to the temporary bridge. The result was that his auto was plunged down an embankment of perhaps twelve feet and badly damaged. The occupant of the car escaped miraculously from death, his injuries of cuts and bruises being severe, however.

S. M. BELL A SUICIDE.

Despondent Man Sends Bullet Through Head—Funeral Monday.

Samuel M. Bell, a resident of Boalsburg for twenty-five years, committed suicide on Thursday morning of last week by firing a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver into his head. Although life did not pass out for an hour after the rash deed had been committed, it was at once seen that there was no hope for the man.

Mr. Bell rose from his bed early in the morning, and prepared to make a trip into the country. He also visited the cemetery near by, and those who passed him on the way to and from the burying ground were greeted in the usual way, no one suspecting that he was contemplating such an awful deed.

The first intimation of the tragedy was the report of the revolver. His wife went to the bed room on the second floor, and there the man lay, still clutching the revolver.

Word was at once given out of what had happened, and a physician was hurridly summoned, but as indicated above there was no possibility of saving the man's life.

County Coroner Fisher, at Zion, was notified of the incident, and being physically unable to preside at an inquest, the matter was put into the hands of Hon. W. A. Murray, a local justice of the peace. The jury named was Henry Frederick, Frank Tharp, P. S. Ishler, R. B. Harrison, W. H. Stuart, Jacob Meyer, who after hearing evidence on the case reported death was due to the man's own act and with suicidal intent.

Interment was made on Monday, Rev. S. C. Stover officiating.

The deceased was born in Juniata county, and was aged fifty-seven years and seven months. He came to Boalsburg from McAlisterville, and first engaged in repairing sewing machines and the sale of them. Later he began dealing in tin ware, hardware and stoves, and also was agent for the Grand Union Tea Company. He had his faults, and there are none without them, yet he had many friends who will very much regret to read of the sad ending of his life.

The mother of the deceased lives in Juniata county, and a halfbrother, Henry Varner, is located near Philadelphia. He was twice married, his first wife having died about three years ago. The second wife, to whom he was married several months ago, survives, as do also several step children.

On examining the room closely, it was discovered that two shots had been fired, one lodging in a large trunk from which it is presumed the revolver was secured. It is thought that after the fatal shot had been fired, it was either by striking the trunk in the fall, or the heavy grip on the revolver that set off the self-cocking revolver a second time.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS.

Saturday and Sunday were delightful days.

Miss Mary Zettle, of Centre Hall, recently visited her uncle Ira Barger, at Milroy.

John D. Lucas, the contractor and builder, made a business trip to Watsontown on Saturday.

Mrs. Irvin J. Shirk, of Glenn Iron, visited her father, W. J. Sweetwood, in Georges Valley last week.

Although there has been considerable rainfall during this month, the springs do not show any perceptible rising.

George Wagner, who works for John S. Ruhl on his farm near Tylersville, was thrown from a wagon and broke his arm.

The Howard Hustler: Mrs. Clyde Smith, of Centre Hall, is visiting this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Henderson.

Orain Osman, son of Frank D. Osman, is at State College driving a milk wagon for Jesse Klinger, who with his wife and family are on a trip to Akron, Ohio.

The road between Lemont and State College is being built by the state highway department. This is a link of one of the routes from county-seat to county-seat being built by the state.

J. W. Evans, in Georges Valley has begun the construction of a silo. It will be circular in form and will be built of hollow tile especially made for such structures. It is Mr. Evans' intention to have the silo completed in time to fill it this season.

The Unionville borough council granted the Unionville electric light company a fifty-year franchise. The only compensation the borough is to receive is a pole tax of twenty cents per year and privilege to use the poles for wires for fire and police purposes.

The Atlantic City excursion, on last Thursday, was taken advantage of by these persons from Centre Hall: Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Strohmeier, Miss Bertha Strohmeier, Mrs. F. O. Bairfoot, Mrs. Lucy Henney, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Mitterling, Miss Anna Mitterling, Miss Lena Emerick.

Prof. J. A. Young, who will be recalled as one of the principals of the Centre Hall High School, and who for four years was principal of the Lock Haven schools, has resigned his position to accept the supervising principalship of the Willimantic, Connecticut, schools at a greatly increased salary.

Burdine Butler, the democratic warhorse of Howard, was in Centre Hall the latter part of last week. Mr. Butler had some difficulties with the Bald Eagle Valley railroad company, and because he gave them an interesting meet on his hay field, the work is now progressing at least partially according to his terms.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hagen and little son, of Shamokin, came to Spring Mills last week and until Monday afternoon were guests at the home of the former's parents. Mr. and Mrs. John Hagen, at Farmers Mills. Mr. Hagen is a telegrapher and is employed by the Pennsy, and is the kind of young man that the great corporation is in quest of at all times.

While ripping a board with a circular power saw, Orvis Weaver got his left hand into the saw and the result was the index finger was cut off entirely, the second finger was almost severed and in dressing was removed, and the little finger badly mangled. The young man, who is twenty years old, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital in a car by Miss Helen Bartholomew, and was accompanied by Dr. J. V. Foster. The accident occurred on Friday, while Mr. Weaver was working for C. D. Bartholomew, who employs him continuously.

Dr. W. E. Fischer, of Shamokin, for eighteen years pastor of the Centre Hall Lutheran charge, and for as long a time pastor of his present charge, is among his old parishioners, having come here last week to attend a picnic of the Sunday-schools of the charge. Dr. Fischer is held in high esteem by his acquaintances, regardless of the denominational affiliations, and his visits here, which, however, are not at all frequent, are greatly enjoyed by the former pastor as well as the people. Just now Dr. Fischer is looking forward longingly to the April days in 1913, at which time his daughters will return from China, one of them having been there as a missionary for almost seven years, and the second daughter and her husband are girthing the world for the second time, and are now due in China. On Sunday morning Dr. Fischer was greeted in the Lutheran church by a large number of people to hear him deliver one of his characteristic sermons.

QUEER SCHOOLS.

There is in St. Petersburg an institution where young men are trained for service as police. The course of instruction provided is supplemental to the examination given by municipal authorities, says the New York Herald. Special study is given by pupils to the tools of various kinds employed by professional thieves. There is a class devoted solely to the study of forgery, with particular reference to the falsifying of signatures and vises on passports, a most important consideration in the performance of the duties of a Russian policeman. A school for croupiers is conducted at Monte Carlo. During the summer months, in the clubroom of the Tir aux Pigeons and the Salle de'Escrime, in the Casino building, aspirants for the office of croupier learn the operation of gambling tables. Each pupil must from time to time, while others are impersonating players and making their respective wagers, conduct the game and learn how instantly to calculate and to pay out the winning stakes. Generally, it is said, there are about 60 or 70 pupils in this school, and a six months' course is deemed sufficient to turn out finished croupiers. Brussels has a school for the instruction of gravediggers. This grewsome institution was founded by the directors of the Evere cemetery. All candidates for appointment as sextons throughout Belgium must pass an examination at this school before they can obtain employment as gravediggers.

What is a jay walker? We all know him and recognize him as a pest, but Kansas City was first in giving him a name and separate clasification. The jay walker is the person who walks or loiters in crowded streets, totally indifferent to the rights and convenience of those he comes in contact with there. In crossing from one sidewalk to another he ignores the cross-walks and meanders among wagons, traction cars and automobiles with a recklessness that puts the drivers in danger of heart failure. On a crowded sidewalk he keeps to the left instead of to the right, roughly shouldering his way through the oncoming stream of humanity. He stops to talk with acquaintances on busy corners, planting himself where he will most interfere with the progress of the people passing by. On the narrow boardwalk in front of an excavation for a new building he leisurely surveys the operations going on behind the fence, compelling all who wish to pass to step off upon the dirty pavement.

There has started in Baltimore a systematic plan to deal with street mendicants in a practical and sensible way, says the Baltimore American. As a result of a conference a special mendicancy officer has been appointed to make a careful examination of each case and suggest the wisest method of dealing with it. He will have plenty to do, although street beggars are not as numerous as they were a few years ago. Still there are an abundance of them, surely enough to keep an officer busy. Some of these mendicants have grown old in the business and are familiar figures on busy shopping streets. Few, if any, of them, are worthy of charity. They stay in the business because they find it the easiest way to get food and drink, especially drink.

One portion of the British Isles is not likely to take much interest in the bill for reforming the calendar which is to be introduced into parliament, says the London Globe. The act enforcing the Gregorian calendar was passed 161 years ago, but it is still ignored in Shetland. Almost all through the group of islands the old style of reckoning time is still followed. What we call January 13 is New Year's day among the Shetlanders and celebrated by them with all manner of old observances, including the solemn drinking of the national toast—"Health to man and death to the gray fish."

SKIRLEY FAVORS BUDGET SYSTEM

In Making Appropriations He Proposes Reforms.

CONDEMNS PRESENT METHOD

Kentucky Representative Serves Notice On House That He Will Advocate Change Of Present System.

Washington.—In serving notice on the House just before adjournment, that he proposed to advocate sweeping reforms in the manner of appropriating funds, Representative Sherley, of Kentucky, Democrat and a member of the appropriation committee, attacked the present method of drawing on the public funds for the conduct of the government. Mr. Sherley said that "no human being now knows how much money will be appropriated by this Congress, even in round figures.

"Some of us who have watched are enabled in a general way to estimate what the total will be," he continued. "Nearly every really serious trouble that has arisen in connection with appropriations in this Congress has come about by virtue of the fact that we consider the individual bills separately and apart from their relationship to the whole expenditure. I hope that this Congress will be the last one that ever will appropriate vast sums of the conduct of the public business without having presented to it at the beginning of its labors a statement of expenditures that, when approved by the Congress, shall represent the total that shall be expended for the ensuing fiscal year."

Mr. Shirley condemned as "altogether unscientific" the present system, and insisted that a broader view of the financial situation so far as the government was concerned was necessary to prevent extravagance and check unnecessarw expenditures. He declared the budget system would solve the situation.

"We are the only great nation on earth," he said, "that undertakes to appropriate these vast sums without consideration of the matter as a whole. And when you think that the Congress of the United States appropriates a thousand millions and yet we bring in from various and sundry committees bill after bill and no one, except as he may gain by private conference, has any knowledge of what the totals may be you can see the absolutely unscientific character of the method. The wonder is that with such a method the expenditure is not even more than it has been in the past."

EX-CLERK TRAIN ROBBER.

Man Who Held Up Mail Car Reveals His Identity.

Topeka, Kan.—The daring robber who was shot and seriously wounded in resisting capture after he had robbed the mail car on Union Pacific train No. 101, which left Kansas City for Denver at 10.10 o'clock Friday night, is still alive at a hospital here. He said he is Willis Lonsberry, formerly of Medford, Ore., that he was a former railway clerk and that he has a wife and two children in Medford.

Voliva Bans Tight Skirts.

Chicago.—A chorus of "Amens" came from the male auditors of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, when he announced that it was his intention to drive openwork stockings, low-necked dresses and form-fitting skirts from that city. The women gave no intimation of what they thought of the overseer's ultimatum. "I am going to insist that the women here dress modestly and show the proper Christian character," Voliva declared. "If the women do not care to do so, they must expect to be dismissed from the church."

Second Recall Wanted.

Wichita, Kan.—Petitions for the recall of Mayor W. W. Minnick are in circulation here. It is charged that the mayor retains a chief of police whose integrity is questioned. Mayor Minnick was elected to office a year ago, when Mayor Graham was recalled after being in office six months. It requires 3,400 names to call an election. About 200 have been obtained in a day and a half of work.

Like Father, Like Son.

Washington.—Henry Rogers, an 18-year-old son of a once prominent Washington family, who had been an orphan since he was six years old, killed himself by inhaling illuminating gas. A few years ago his father, a well to do lawyer, shot the boy's mother while she was asleep and then shot himself.

Municipal Opera House.

San Francisco.—The first municipal opera house in the United States is to form part of San Francisco's new civic center, for which $8,000,000 worth of bonds were voted for last spring. The building, on which work will begin in a year, is to cost $650,000. The Musical Association, a body of public-spirited citizens, will erect the opera house on municipal land, and it will become the property of the city. All receipts are to be applied exclusively to maintenance and production.

JAMES W. RODGERS SHOT IN JUNGLE

Elephant Poacher Had Established Empire.

BRITISH TROOPERS GET HIM.

Remarkable and Romantic Career Of An American (James Ward Rogers) In the Heart Of Africa.

London.—Hunted down by British soldiers in the depths of the jungles of Central Africa, where for years in defiance of all authority he had pursued the career of an elephant poacher and illicit ivory trader, James Ward Rogers, an American, is dead. He was shot down by a little force of troops, which had been sent into the wilderness in pursuit with orders not to return without the outlaw, dead or alive.

News of Rogers' death came formally to the British colonial office from Capt. C. V. Fox, inspector of Mongalla province, who commanded the expedition. Although told in an official report, the story revealed is one of the most dramatic in colonial annals.

For years Rogers had carried on his lawless trade, which popular opinion credited with netting him a fortune.

The remote regions along the Lado Enclavo and Congo boundaries were the scenes of his operations. Time after time British officials of the Sudan had tried in vain to trap him. It was his defiance of years which determined the government to crush the old man.

Captain Fox's report shows that in his long operations Rogers had done more than had been dreamed of by the Colonial Office. He had established an organized administration over the wild, trackless country and among the natives was a virtual, if uncrowned, king.

The success of the outlaw in handling his "subjects" and in pursuit of his trade drew from Captain Fox, in his report, the tribute that Rogers' work was worthy of a better cause.

Not since the explorer, Henry M. Stanley, pierced the jungles in 1871 and found Dr. Livingstone has such a tale of hardship, trials and dangers come out of Africa. Captain Fox's report, in this respect, resembles most nearly, perhaps, the tale of General Funston's dogged pursuit of Aguinaldo in the Philippines.

For the purpose of tracking the outlaw the English commander was given a non-commissioned subordinate and six Soudanese soldiers. Body carriers and mules for the transportation of supplies were part of his equipment. His instructions were plain—not to return until the outlaw was captured.

With a soldiers' disregard for red tape, Captain Fox in his report fails to mention dates in describing the man hunt. Probably the denouement of the jungle drama came three months ago.

The pursuers had spent weeks plunging through the jungle that almost defied passage, Rogers cunningly leading them through the densest of swamps, forests and across deep streams. Before the outlaw was overtaken he had crossed the Nile into the Belgian Congo.

Would Probe Hemp Trust.

Washington.—Investigation of the so-called American Hemp Trust and its alleged connection with the International Harvester Company, and the extent of the depression of hemp prices obtainable by Philippine farmers, is to be pressed at the next session of Congress.

GATES' NEW YORK ESTATE.

The Tax Appraisers' Report Shows But $62,989.

New York.—John W. Gates, who died on August 9, 1911, left an estate of only $62,989 in New York State. This was made known when the state tax appraiser's report was filed. Mr. Gates' estate in Texas is worth several millions. Mr. Gates' will was filed in Jefferson county, Texas. It named Dellora R. Gates, widow, and Charles G. Gates, son, as executors and beneficiaries.

SHOT AMERICANS IN NICARAGUA

Two Killed in the Massacre by Rebels in Leon.

FEW ESCAPED SLAUGHTER.

More American Marines To Be On Guard Than Ever Before Sent To a South American Republic In Time Of Peace.

Washington.—Two Americans are reported to have been deliberately murdered in the massacre of the Nicaraguan loyal troops by the rebels at Leon on August 19. One was said to be Harvey Dodd, of Kosciusko, Miss.; the other a man named Phillips. The two men had been wounded and were seeking refuge in a hospital, according to the report received at the State Department.

Dodd and Phillips were said to have been fighting with the government troops. In the defeat they were taken to the hospital badly wounded, where they were killed in the massacre which followed. No more details were sent to Washington.

The killing of Dodd and Phillips, though not entirely a parallel, recalls the killing of Cannon and Groce by Zelaya in 1909, which resulted in an upheaval which threw the dictator out of office and sent him to Europe an exile. The State Department is pressing for more information.

A delayed dispatch from Corinto today says the rebels are taking towns between Leon and Chinandaga. They are reported to have confiscated a large plantation and a distillery containing $5,000,000 worth of alcohol.

With the arrival of additional United States forces in Nicaragua, Rear Admiral Sutherland, on the cruiser California, will take full command.

BRAMWELL BOOTH TO TAFT.

Thanks the President For Message Of Condolence.

Washington.—President Taft received the following cable message from Bramwell Booth, son of the late Gen. William Booth:

"Your noble and eloquent tribute to our dear father's life and character touches me most deeply and will profoundly gratify our people and friends throughout the world. From the midst of my great sorrow I thank you both for them and for myself. We mourn our great leader's loss, but by God's grace we go forward with his work. One of his precious possessions was the friendship and sympathy of so many American citizens. I humbly pray God to bless you and to crown your great nation with His loving kindness."

CANAL ACROSS GEORGIA.

Plan Under Consideration By Atlanta Financial Interests.

Atlanta, Ga.—Local interests will soon submit a proposition to the United States government to utilize the Panama Canal machinery in the construction of a canal across Southern Georgia. The proposed canal, it is stated, would shorten the water route between ports on the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic seaboard by two days. It also would drain approximately 1,000,000 acres of land in the Okefenokee Swamp, making it available for farming purposes. Preliminary plans propose the construction of the canal from Folkston, on the St. Marys River, to the upper waters of the Suwanee River.

CONGRESSMAN DWIGHT TO QUIT.

Says, After Six Terms, He Would Not Accept If Nominated.

Washington.—Representative John W. Dwight, of New York, announced that he would not again be a candidate for Congress and that if nominated he would not accept the nomination. He said his reason for retiring from Congress was personal. Mr. Dwight has been Republican whip of the House for several years. He has served in six Congresses.

WILLIAM BOOTH'S LONG LIFE ENDED

Grand Old Commander of the Salvation Army.

A WORLDWIDE EVANGELIST.

For Over Half a Century He Had Devoted His Life To the Great Work Of Developing and Expanding the Organization.

HIS CHRISTIAN ARMY.

Salvation Army organized in July, 1865, by General Booth in London's East End as the Christian Mission.

Now engaged in 53 countries and colonies with over 18,000 officers, commanding 7,000 corps of workers.

The army's charitable institutions include homes for boys and girls, inebriates' homes, maternity homes and rescue work.

An insurance society with 2,000 agents and a large annual premium account.

Heavy property holdings, including barracks, halls, homes, hospitals in every Christian land.

General Booth, the grand old commander-in-chief, always the leader and inspiration of the movement.

He visited every part of the world in the advancement of the Army and was honored by presidents, emperors and kings.

London.—The Rev. William Booth, general and commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, passed away Tuesday night. He was born at Nottingham in 1829.

The veteran Salvation Army leader was unconscious for 48 hours previous to his death. The medical bulletins had not revealed the seriousness of the General's condition, which for a week past, it is now admited, was hopeless.

GEN. WILLIAM BOOTH.

Twelve weeks ago General Booth underwent an operation for the removal of a cataract in his left eye. For two days after the operation indications justified the hope of the General's recovery. Then, however, septic poisoning set in and from that time, with the exception of occasional rallies, the patient's health steadily declined.

The General recognized that the end was near and often spoke of his work as being finished.

Throughout the commander-in-chief's illness his son, Bramwell Booth, chief of staff of the army, and Mrs. Bramwell Booth gave their unremitting attention to him both night and day. The aged evangelist died at his residence, the Rookstone, Hadleywood, some eight miles from London, where he had been confined to his bed ever since the operation. Present at the bedside when the end came were Mr. and Mrs. Bramwell Booth and the daughter and son, Adjutant Catherine Booth and Sergeant Bernard Booth; the general's youngest daughter, Commissioner Mrs. Booth-Helberd and Commissioner Howard, Colonel Kitching and Dr Wardlaw Milne.

STORMS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE.

Man Drowned and Large Reservoir Threatened.

Washington, Pa.—William Pepoe, of Tylerdale, Pa., was drowned and damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars was done in Washington county by a series of storms which flooded the small streams and threatened a large reservoir near here. Tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads were badly washed, telegraph and telephone wires were blown down and the electric light plant here is under water.

LIPTON WILL TRY AGAIN.

He Is Coming Over Next Month To Arrange Yacht Race.

London.—Sir Thomas Lipton will make another attempt to lift the American Cup. To arrange for the contest he will visit the United States some time this fall, and will leave London about the end of September. If successful in making the arrangements he will commence the building of another challenger at once.

TAFT SIGNS THE PANAMA BILL

Takes Stand That Measure Does Not Violate Treaty.

OUR SOVEREIGN RIGHTS.

Following His Signature Of the Measure, the President Sent a Memorandum To Congress.

Washington.—President Taft signed the Panama Canal Bill. Following this he sent to Congress a memorandum suggesting the advisability of the passage of a resolution which would declare that this measure was not considered by this government a violation of the treaty provisions regarding the canal.

In discussing the British protest against the exemption of American shipping from the payment of tolls for the use of the canal Mr. Taft says the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from it is that "although the United States owns, controls and has paid for the canal, it is restricted by treaty from aiding its own commerce in the way that all the other nations of the world may freely do."

"In view of the fact," Mr. Taft continues, "that the Panama Canal is being constructed by the United States wholly at its own cost, upon territory ceded to it by the Republic of Panama for that purpose and that, unless it has restricted itself, the United States enjoys absolute rights of ownership and control, including the right to allow its own commerce the use of the canal upon such terms as it sees fit, the sole question is:

"Has the United States by the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, deprived itself of the exercise of the right to pass its own commerce free, or to remit tolls collected for the use of the canal."

Points Out Rules.

The President points out that the rules specified in the article of the treaty which is made the basis for the British protest were adopted by the United States as the "basis of the neutralization of the canal and for no other purpose." This article, he further says, "is a declaration of policy by the United States that the canal shall be neutral, that the attitude of this government toward the commerce of the world is that all nations will be treated alike and no discrimination made by the United States against any one of them observing the rules adopted by the United States. In other words, it was a conditional favored nation treatment, the measure of which in the absence of express stipulation to that effect is not what the country has given to its own nationals, but the treatment it extends to other nations.

"Thus it is seen that the rules are but the basis of neutralization intended to effect the neutrality which the United States was willing should be the character of the canal and not intended to limit or hamper the United States in the exercise of its sovereign power to deal with its own commerce, using its own canal in whatsoever manner it saw fit."

Nothing To Prevent.

The President argues that if there is nothing in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty preventing Great Britain and the other nations from extending favors to their shipping using the canal, and if there is nothing that gives the United States any supervision over or right to complain of such action "then the British protest leads to the absurd conclusion that this government in constructing the canal, maintaining the canal and defending the canal, finds itself shorn of its right to deal with its own commerce in its own way, while all other nations using the canal in competition with American commerce enjoy that right and power unimpaired.

The British Protest.

"The British protest, therefore, is a proposal to read into the treaty a surrender by the United States of its right to regulate its own commerce in its own way and by its own method, a right which neither Great Britain herself nor any other nation that may use the canal has surrendered or proposes to surrender."

The President presented the pen with which he signed the Canal Bill to William R. Wheeler, of San Francisco.

FATHER KILLS HIMSELF.

Disappointed Because Thrice Child Was a Girl.

Chicago.—Disappointed because his wife had given birth to a daughter, the third, Frank Novak fired a bullet into his head, dying instantly. He had said he wanted a boy.

DEMANDED $419,000,000.

Joseph Cohn Claimed Rockefeller Owed Him That Sum.

Lacrosse, Wis.—An examination as to his sanity, it was said, would be ordered in the case of Joseph Cohn, of Pueblo, Col., who created a scene at the Standard Oil office here by demanding $419,000,000, which he said John D. Rockefeller owed him. Cohn told the police he had documentary proof, but failed to produce it. He is detained at the police station pending further inquiry.

SYNOPSIS.

The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy. Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony. Trouble at Scratch Hill, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff. Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington. Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price. The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail. Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain. Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again. Murrell arrive in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes. Yancy awakes from long dreamless sleep on board the raft. Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles.

(CHAPTER XII—(Continued).

"So your sister doesn't like me, Tom—that's on your mind this morning, is it?" Murrell was saying.

"Make it worth my while and I'll take her off your hands," and Murrell laughed.

Tom favored him with a sullen stare.

There was a brief silence, during which Murrell studied his friend's face. When he spoke, it was to give the conversation a new direction.

"Did she bring the boy here last night? I saw you drive off with him in the carriage."

"Yes, she makes a regular pet of the little ragamuffin."

"Is the boy going to stay at Belle Plain?" inquired Murrell.

"That notion hasn't struck her yet, for I heard her say at breakfast that she'd take him to Raleigh this afternoon."

"That's the boy I traveled all the way to North Carolina to get for Fentress."

"Eh—you don't say?" cried Ware.

"Tom, what do you know about the Quintard lands; what do you know about Quintard himself?" continued Murrell.

"He was a rich planter; lived in North Carolina. My father met him when he was in congress and got him to invest in land here. They had some colonization scheme on foot—this was upward of twenty years ago—but nothing came of it. Quintard lost interest."

"And the land?"

"Oh, he held on to that."

"Quintard has been dead two years, Tom, and back yonder in North Carolina they told me he left nothing but the home plantation. The boy lived there up to the time of Quintard's death, but what relation he was to the old man no one knew. Offhand, Tom, I'd say that by getting hold of the boy Fentress expects to get hold of the Quintard land."

"That's likely," said Ware; then struck by a sudden idea, he added, "Are you going to take all the risks and let him pocket the cash? If it's the land he's after, the stake's big enough to divide."

"He can have the whole thing and welcome. I'm playing for a bigger stake." His friend stared at him in astonishment. "I'm licking a speculation into shape that will cause me to be remembered while there's a white man alive in the Mississippi Valley! Have you heard what the niggers did at Hayti?"

"You let the niggers alone; don't you tamper with them," said Ware. He possessed a profound belief in Murrell's capacity.

"Look here, what do you think I have been working for—to steal a few niggers? That furnishes us with money, but you can push the trade too hard and too far. The planters are uneasy. The Clan's got to deal a counter blow or go out of business. Between here and the gulf—" he made a wide sweeping gesture with his arm. "I am spotting the country with my men; there are two thousand active workers on the rolls of the Clan, and as many more like you, Tom—and Fentress—on whose friendship I can rely."

"Sure as God, John Murrell, you are overreaching yourself! Your white men are all right, they've got to stick by you; if they don't they know it's only a question of time until they get a knife driven into their ribs—but niggers—there isn't any real fight in a nigger, if there was they wouldn't be here."

"Yet you couldn't have made the whites in Hayti believe that," said Murrell, with a sinister smile.

Ware, feeling the entire uselessness of argument, uttered a string of imprecations, and then fell silent.

"Well, how about the girl, Tom?" asked Murrell at length. "Listen to me, Tom. I'll take her away, and Belle Plain is yours—land, stock and niggers!" said Murrell.

Ware shifted and twisted in his seat.

"Do you want the land and the niggers? I reckon you'll have to take them whether you want them or not, for I'm going to have the girl."

CHAPTER XIII.

Bob Yancy Finds Himself.

Mr. Yancy awoke from a long dreamless sleep; heavy-lidded, his eyes slid open. For a moment he struggled with the odds and ends of memory, then he recalled the fight at the tavern, the sudden murderous attack, the fierce blows Slosson had dealt him, the knife thrust which had ended the struggle. Therefore, the bandages that now swathed his head and shoulders; therefore, the need that he should be up and doing—for where was Hannibal?

Suddenly a shadow fell obliquely across the foot of his narrow bed, and Cavendish, bending his long body somewhat, thrust his head in at the opening. He found himself looking into a pair of eyes that for the first time in many a long day held the light of consciousness.

"How are you, stranger?" he demanded, in a soft drawl.

"Where am I?" The words were a whisper on Yancy's bearded lips.

"Well, sir, you are in the Tennessee river fo' certain. Polly! you jest step here."

But Polly had heard Cavendish speak, and the murmur of Yancy's voice in reply. Now her head appeared beside her husband's.

"La, you are some better, ain't you, sir?" she cried, smiling down on him. "It's been right smart of a spell, too; yes, sir, you've laid like you was dead, and not fo' a matter of hours either—but days."

"How long?"

"Well, nigh on to three weeks."

They saw Yancy's eyes widen with a look of dumb horror.

"And you don't know nothing about my nevvy?—you ain't seen or heard of him, ma'am?" faltered Yancy.

Polly shook her head regretfully.

"Ten or thereabouts, ma'am. He were a heap of comfort to me—" and the whisper on Yancy's lips was wonderfully tender and wistful. He closed his eyes and presently, lulled by the soft ripple that bore them company, fell into a restful sleep.

The raft drifted on into the day's heat; and when at last Yancy awoke, it was to find Henry and Keppel seated beside him, each solacing him with a small moist hand. Mrs. Cavendish appeared, bringing Yancy's breakfast.

In her wake came Connie with the baby, and the three little brothers who were to be accorded the cherished privilege of seeing the poor gentleman eat. Cavendish presented himself at the opening that did duty as a door.

"This looks like bein' alive, stranger," he commented genially.

"You-all ain't told me yo' name yet?" said Yancy.

"It's Cavendish. Richard Keppel Cavendish."

"My name's Yancy—Bob Yancy."

Mr. Cavendish exchanged glances with Mrs. Cavendish.

"Stranger, what I'm a-goin' to tell you, you'll take as bein' said man to man," he began, with the impressive air of one who had a secret of great moment to impart. "Ever hear tell of lords?"

"No." Yancy was quick to notice the look of disappointment on the faces of his new friends.

"Are you ever heard of royalty?" and Cavendish fixed the invalid's wandering glance.

"You mean kings?"

"I shore do."

Yancy made a mighty mental effort.

"There's them Bible kings—" he ventured at length.

Mr. Cavendish shook his head.

"Them's sacred kings. Are you familiar with any of the profane kings, Mr. Yancy?"

"Well, taking them as they come, them Bible kings seemed to average pretty profane." Yancy was disposed to defend this point.

"You must a heard of the kings of England. Sho', wa'n't any of yo' folks in the war agin' him?"

"I'd plumb forgot, why my daddy fit all through the war!" exclaimed Yancy. The Cavendishes were immensely relieved.

"Now you-all keep still," said Cavendish. "I want Mr. Yancy should get the straight of this here! The various orders of royalty are kings, dukes, earls and lords. Earls is the third from the top of the heap, but lords ain't no slouch."

"Dick had ought to know, fo' he's an earl himself," cried Polly exultantly.

"Sho,' Richard Keppel Cavendish, Earl of Lambeth! Sho', that was what he was! Sho'!" and some transient feeling of awe stamped itself upon their small faces as they viewed the long and limber figure of their parent.

"These here titles go to the eldest son. He begins by bein' a viscount," continued Chills and Fever. "It was my great grandfather come over here from England. His name was Richard Keppel Cavendish, same as mine is. He lived back yonder on the Carolina coast and went to raisin' tobacco. I've heard my grandfather tell all about it.

His Face Went White and the Book Slipped From His Fingers.

"My grandfather said he never knowed a man with the same aversion agin labor as his father had. Folks put it down to laziness, but they misjudged him, as come out later, yet he never let on.

"Then one day he got his hands on a paper that had come acrost in a ship from England. All at once, he lit on something in the paper, and he started up and let out a yell like he'd been shot. 'By gum, I'm the Earl of Lambeth!' he says, and took out to the nearest tavern and got b'illin' full. Afterward he showed 'em the paper and they seen with their own eyes where Richard Keppel Cavendish, Earl of Lambeth, had died in London. My great grandfather told 'em that was his uncle; that when he left home there was several cousins—but they'd up and died, so the title come to him. He never done a lick of work after that.

"I'm an orphan man of title now and it's been my dream to take Polly and the children and go back to England and see the king about my title. Don't you reckon he's got the notion the Cavendishes has petered out?"

Mr. Yancy considered this likely.

The furious shrieking of a steampacket's whistle broke in upon them.

"It's another of them hawgs, wantin' all the river!" said Mr. Cavendish, and fled to the steering oar.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Judge Sees a Ghost.

Charley Norton's good offices did not end when he had furnished Judge Price with a house, for Betty required of him that he should supply that gentleman with legal business as well.

Thus it happened that Judge Price, before he had been three days in Raleigh, received a civil note from Mr. Norton asking him to search the title to a certain timber tract held by one Joseph Quaid. The judge, powerfully excited, told Mahaffy he was being understood and appreciated.

The immediate result of Norton's communication had been to send the judge up the street to the court house. He would show his client that he could be punctual and painstaking.

Entering the court house, he found himself in a narrow hall. He entered the county clerk's office. He was already known to this official, whose name was Saul, and he now greeted him.

"A little matter of business brings me here, sir," began the judge, with a swelling chest and mellow accents. "I am in some haste to look up a title for my client, Mr. Norton."

Mr. Saul scrambled up out of the depths of his chair and exerted himself in the judge's behalf.

"This is what you want, sir. Better take the ledger to the window, the light in here ain't much." He drew forward a chair as he spoke, and the judge, seating himself, began to polish his spectacles with great deliberation.

"You've set on the bench, sir?" suggested Mr. Saul.

"In one of the eastern counties, but my inclination has never been toward the judiciary." He was turning the leaves of the ledger as he spoke. Suddenly the movement of his hand was arrested.

"Found it?" asked Mr. Saul. But the judge gave him no answer; he was staring down at the open pages of the book. "Found the entry?" repeated Mr. Saul.

"Eh—what's that? No—" he appeared to hesitate. "Who is this man Quintard?"

"He's the owner of a hundred-thousand-acre tract in this and abutting counties," said Mr. Saul.

"Who has charge of the land?"

"Colonel Fentress; he was old General Ware's law partner. I've heard it was the general who got this man Quintard to make the investment, but that was before my time."

The judge lapsed into silence.

A step sounded in the narrow hall. An instant later the door was pushed open, and grateful for any interruption that would serve to take Mr. Saul's attention from himself, the judge abruptly turned his back on the clerk and began to examine the record before him. Insensibly, however, the cold, level tones of the voice that was addressing itself to Mr. Saul quickened the beat of his pulse, the throb of his heart, and struck back through the years to a day from which he reckoned time. He turned slowly, as if in dread.

What he saw was a man verging on sixty, lean and dark, with thin, shaven cheeks of a bluish cast above the jaw, and a strongly aquiline profile. Long, black locks swept the collar of his coat, while his tall, spare figure was habited in sleek broadcloth and spotless linen. For a moment the judge seemed to struggle with doubt, then his face went white and the book slipped from his fingers to the window ledge.

DIRT FLYING ON STATE HIGHWAYS

Dauphin County Operations Well Under Way This Month.

ARE WORKING MAIN ROUTES

Good Progress on Rutherford Pike—Maintenance Force Under Engineer George H. Biles Construct an Experimental Road.

(Special Harrisburg Correspondence.)

Harrisburg.—Dirt is flying on the State highways in Dauphin county, and on practically every one of the half dozen or more main routes in this county gangs of men are working to put the roads into good condition for travel. The most important work has been in progress on the Rutherford pike, which is now in good shape between Rutherford and Hummelstown for the first time in months, and one the Lykens valley road. The maintenance force under the direction of Engineer George H. Biles is having a section of experimental road constructed between Twenty-first and State streets and Penbrook borough. This work will overcome a bad stretch of road and demonstrate the value of asphaltic macadam by the engineering method. It is probable that within two weeks the section of the new State highway will be opened through Riverside The work is going forward rapidly and inspections of the completed work south of the Hiester property will be made shortly

Third Audit in Dauphin.

The Dauphin County Auditors began the third audit of the county's financial condition for 1911. They took back from the County Commissioners their two former audits and the special audit of J. C. Shumberger, an expert, and obtained possession of the treasury and other departmental records. "We're here to re-organize," declared Auditor Walters," and to ascertain how much money is due the county treasurer at the beginning of January, 1912. Now that is about all we can say at this time. What our course of action will be must be determined after we've had our conference and looked over matters." "By ascertaining how much is due the county treasurer at the beginning of this year, do you mean that a re-audit will be made?" Mr. Walters was asked.

"We can't say that will be done until we've had a chance to look over the books and so on and to see how matters stand."

President John W. Cassel and Auditor Reigle declared they could say nothing as to the probable action of the board, pending the conference. The auditors each got a key to the grand jury room and it is understood they will be on the job there.

Length of Snakes.

The rattlesnakes and copperheads that inhabit the mountains north of this city sometimes grow to prodigious size. As a rule the copperhead runs more truly to form and is seldom seen much longer than five feet, but the ratters sometimes grow to a size that makes the figures given by the authorities on such matters as the average length look small. The lumbermen who work for the Zortman firm in the timbering operations in the mountain east of Dauphin report that there are rattlesnakes in that part of the mountains that are over seven feet in length, while Edward Cumberland, who lives at 236 North Court street, was showing his friends the skin of a snake that was over six feet long. This specimen was taken at Doubling Gap and was killed by a mountain woman, who skinned it and rendered the fat and then sold the skin to Cumberland. There were eight rattles found on this skin.

Lehigh Valley Bars Liquor.

Forbidding the use of liquor by employes, while on or off duty, the Lehigh Valley Railroad notified trainmen on the Coxton-Delano trip runs that the company owuld not tolerate train or enginemen addicted to the use of liquor. This meant that similar orders would be issued to all other employes. It was explained that the reason the Delano run men were first to receive orders was due to the fact that they are under the new arrangement of running coal north, open to temptation in the little mining town, owing to the long layover and the lack of amusements afforded by the town. At present the Wyoming crews are sent to Delano, forced to lay over eight hours, and then return to Coxton with four engine trains.

Bids for Armories.

The State Armory Board has received the title papers for the site for the new armory in York and bids for constructon of a bulding will be asked this fall. Bids will be opened here for the armories at Pottsville, Plymouth and Meadville. The Plymouth work will be remodeling.

Road Building Starts.

The State Highway Department contractors awarded contracts for road building on August 3 have all begun work.

Of course, had T. R. received the extra $150,000 he demanded from Standard Oil, he would have purified it before using it for the hallowed cause of electing him president.

The hundred thousand the Standard Oil crowd contributed in 1904 made enough noise when it fell into the till to attract T. R.'s attention. It appears from Archbald's statements Standard Oil did not make its contributions to campaign funds without a guarantee that the candidates would be informed of their gifts. They gave to receive in return.

LOCALS.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Warner W. Gondor, in Centre Hall, on Monday night.

C. P. Grenoble, of Brush Valley, was kicked by a mule while working on a lumber job in Hecla Gap.

William Brooks, west of Centre Hall, on Wednesday morning, fell from an apple tree and broke several ribs.

Hon. Leonard Rhone and D. W. Bradford were among others who went to Williams Grove to be on hand at the Wilson demonstration.

The members of the Rebekah lodge, on Tuesday evening, gave a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Vonada, the bride being one of their number.

Asher Stahl and Miss Mary Linehaupt, of Altoona, were at the home of the former's parents, at Centre Hall for several days, returning to Altoona on Tuesday.

Capt. W. H. Fry and several other gentlemen, of Pine Grove Mills, on their way to Rebersburg to attend the reunion of Company A, stopped with the Reporter during the writer's absence.

Lloyd Kerlin, of Liverpool, recently paid his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Jordan, at Colyer, a visit. Mr. Kerlin is engaged in farming along the Susquehanna, and as such is very successful.

Merchant C. F. Emery is having his residence repainted. The work is being done by F. E. Arney. Mr. Emery is also installing a heating plant, and made other improvements about his premises.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Little, of Rutherford, New Jersey, are at the home of the latter's uncle, J. T. Potter, in Centre Hall. Mrs. Little will be recalled as Miss Mary Potter, daughter of John F. Potter, Esq, now of Philadelphia.

Miss Bertha Meyer, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Meyer, of Linden Hall, on Saturday will go to McElhattan, and from there will attend the Williamsport Commercial Business College, at Williamsport. She will make her home with George Meyer, a brother, who is a railroad man.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Shure, and son Paul Gordon, of Harrisburg, have been at the Centre Hall hotel for the past week. Mr. Shure is a railroad conductor, and while this is his first trip here he and Mrs. Shure are so favorably impressed with Centre Hall, that it is not likely to be their last.

Samuel Durst, of near Centre Hall, is the first of the farmers to sport an automobile, having purchased a five-passenger Overland. Mr. Durst is a practical farmer. Some years ago he bought a farm that had the reputation of undoing tenants. He built new buildings, house and barn, the best in the community, and also brought the soil to a high state of cultivation.

Mrs. L. H. Krebs, of Salt Lake City, Utah, and her brother-in-law, Robert Bloom, of Centre Hall, called on the Reporter on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Krebs is the eldest daughter of Daniel Houser, west of Centre Hall. It is twenty-two years since she and her husband left Penns Valley. They first located in Colorado, and a few years later went to Utah. Mr. Krebs is a civil engineer, and is one of the city force. Mrs. Krebs will go to Tyrone and Clearfield on Monday and from there will go west. She will stop at Chicago to visit her eldest daughter before returning home.

The Reporter was favored a call by Joseph Hettinger, of Boalsburg, his daughter, granddaughter, grandson, and great-granddaughter, of Allentown. They were traveling in a touring car, having been over various sections of Centre county, seeing points of interest. On Sunday noon, at the home of Mr. Hettinger, along old Tussey Mountain, the following surrounded a spread on the lawn: Mr. Hettinger, Boalsburg; Mrs. James Fatzinger, Mrs. Charles Fatzinger, Mrs. George Traub, Elenore Muehlberger, all of Allentown; Mr. and Mrs. Walker Shutt, Wayne, Minnie, Mary and Joseph Shutt, Boalsburg; Miss Sallie Johnson and Fred Lose, Pleasant Gap; John Reed, Milroy.

Seats For Lecture Course.

The lecture course committee met on Monday evening at the Presbyterian Manse, all members being present except Dr. G. W. Hosterman.

Those who held course tickets last year will be given the privilege to retain their seats for the coming season providing they forward one dollar to secretary, Rev. S. A. Snyder, on or before Saturday, 7th. Under no conditions will a request to hold seats be recognized unless same is accompanied by the cash, nor can any arrangements by prospective course ticket holders be made to hold certain seats prior to the opening of the chart, on Monday, September 9th, at which time all will have equal privileges as to the selection of seats.

The course tickets for the five attractions will sell for $1.00. The admission for the lectures will remain as heretofore, namely, single reserved seats, thirty cents; general admission, twenty-five cents; children under fifteen years, ten cents. For musicals add five cents to each of these rates.

The attractions are these: October, Governor Robert B. Glenn.

November, The Boston Male Quartette.

December, Guy Carlton Lee.

February, The Trier Concert and Opera Quintette.

March, Harry Bowser.

ZETTLE BROS., Proprietors

WE wish to announce that although our plant burned on the night of the 13th, we are prepared to furnish the trade with a large variety of building material. We have several car loads of window sash, doors, siding, flooring, glass, wainscoting, surfaced yellow pine, molding, plastering lath, and rough timber in stock or in transit, and will be pleased to supply the trade.

Our loss was total, having had no insurance, and we therefore respectfully solicit the patronof the public.

It is our intention to rebuild the plant, and endeavor to furnish the trade with everything in the building line.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF COMPANY A.

Rebersburg and Vicinity Does Honor to Civil War Veterans on Saturday.

The fiftieth anniversary of the mustering in of the members of Company A, 148th Regiment, was held near Rebersburg on Saturday. Of the thirty-one surviving members of the company, fifteen answered to roll call. Many of the surviving ones are scattered over western states. Among those who came a great distance were Lieut. Erast. J. Burkert, of Chicago, Illinois; George Corman, of Freeport, Illinois, and Samuel Strayer, of Geneva, Nebraska. Veterans of other companies, twenty-five or more, came to join in this memorial occasion.

The town was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting, etc., and never in the history of the town was a bigger gathering assembled, the number being estimated at 2000. After the large procession of veterans, sons of veterans, various orders, Sunday-school children and citizens, two bands, had paraded the town, a halt was made on the exact ground where the mustering took place within a day of fifty years ago (August 25, 1862) and the following reported :

MEMBERS CO A PRESENT.

Lieut. E. J. Burkert	George Corman
James T. Corman	Samuel Strayer
Thomas P. Meyer	Daniel B. Weaver
Samuel R. Gettig	Jacob Brechbill
Manasses Gilbert	Moses Gilbert
Henry Meyer	Charles Beirly
Nathaniel Boob	Levi H.Fulmer
Jesse Long

Then the immense crowd went to Smuli's Grove, and after dinner the day was given to speeches by eminent speakers. To the great regret of all General James A. Beaver, the general under whom these men served, could not be present on account of poor health. The speakers were Col. Hugh Taylor, Judge Ellis L. Orvis, Clemet Dale, Esq., Col. D. F. Fortney, all of Bellefonte; also, Dr. T. P. Meyer, of Lock Haven. All paid fine tributes to the remaining veterans. Col. Fortney gave an exceptionally fine tribute to Gov. Beaver as an officer, soldier, and an upright, straight christian citizen—one who was always mindful of the boys under his care while in service, then and in after years.

Citizens and of friends distant from Rebersburg helped to make this a great occasion, and among these was Dr Alfred Beirly, of Chicago, who composed words and music, dedicated to the "Boys of Company A." About a thousand copies of this music was distributed, and sung by everyone, and made the chorus echo to the uttermost parts of the grove. Thus passed a day into history, never to be forgotten by any of the surving veterans or citizens.

Fire at Gatesburg.

The Michael Rider barn, at Gatesburg, was totally destroyed by fire together with nearly all its contents on Sunday night about 12 o'clock. The fire was due to lightning.

Ira Gates is the tenant. He just reached the barn in time to save his livestock. Among the personal property burned was fifty tons of hay, 500 bushels wheat, 400 bushels oats, all gears, and implements, except the drill, binder and rake.

Both the barn and contents were insured in the Centre Hall company, D. F. Luse, secretary.

DEATHS

John J. Orndorf died at his home at Woodward Wednesday of last week, at the age of sixty-five years and three days. He had been ill for several years but bore his illness with great fortitude and invariable cheerfulness. He was a prominent man in the political and business affairs of the eastern part of Penns Valley, serving in official position requiring good judgment and keen business acumen. In the United Evangelical church he was recognized as one of her strong men, locally and was always faithful in attendance upon the services of the church. At the time of his death he was a trustee.

He was married to Sarah E. Dorman, and to this union there were born three sons and four daughters. There survives the widow and five children, viz, Charles C., Louis D., Mrs. W. E. Hosterman, Mrs. Daniel Banner, all of Woodward, and Mrs. John A. Hosterman, of Menno, S. D. Thirty-two grandchildren and five great grandchildren also survive.

The funeral services, which were largely attended, were held at Woodward on Saturday at 10:30 A. M., in charge of his pastor, Rev. W. S. Dice, assisted Rev. E. L. Kessler, of Woodward.

Nothing takes the place of a fair—the Centre county fair begins next Tuesday. You should attend.

COURT PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the Honorable Ellis L. Orvis, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the Forty-ninth Judicial District, consisting of the county of Centre, having issued his precept bearing date the 13th day of August, 1912, to me directed for holding a Court of Common Pleas, Orphans Court, Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, in Bellefonte, for the county of Centre, and to commence on the

FOURTH MONDAY OF SEPTEMBER

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Will Begin Its 38th Year
September 10th, 1912

¶ Completion of the Normal Course legally qualifies one to teach for life in Pennsylvania. There are strong departments for Domestic Science, for Business and for Music.

¶ For those preparing to teach, $62 pays for Fall Term; $54 for Winter Term; $50 for Spring Term.

¶ For several years, this school has had more applying for entrance than it could accommodate; therefore rooms should always be engaged in advance.

¶ The Institution publishes a fine Catalogue, which can be obtained free by addressing the Principal—

"The Wolf."

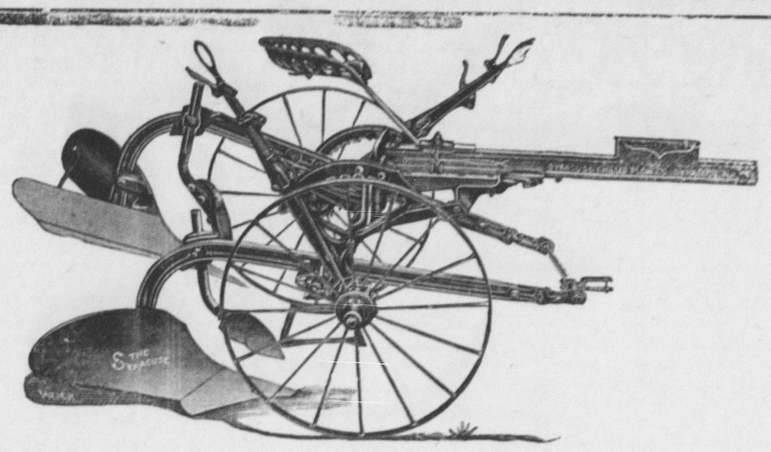
"The Wolf," written by Eugene Walter, will be seen at Garman's opera house, Friday evening. Admission, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00.

There are three acts. The play has strong dramatic vertebrae and its long run at the Lyric Theatre, New York, proves it to be one of the season's most interesting productions.

Mrs. B. E. Spangler, of Chicago, Illinois, is at the home of her parents at Howard. She will come to Centre Hall to visit Mr. Spangler's father, W. W. Spangler, the latter part of this week.

THERE IS NO PLOW SUPERIOR TO THE

SYRACUSE RIDING PLOW



It plows the same depth the whole day long; sticks to the ground in stormy soil; can be well handled on rocky hillsides. It leaves no deep furrows to wash; will throw the soil up hill better than any other plow made; it is strong enough to do its work, yet not clumsy. Made for two or three horses.

NEW IDEA MANURE SPREADER Does its work to perfection

There are many of them in use, and every machine is giving satisfaction. The draft is light, yet no other spreader will do the work as well. The wear and tear has been reduced to the minimum in the NEW IDEA.

Concrete

Cheaper and more Lasting than Wood

I have just received another car of Portland Cement, thus assuring you a fresh article, which is so much appreciated by users of cement, as that stored in warehouse since early Spring is often partly set in the bags when purchased.

I have also two sizes of Crushed Lime Stone, and sharp river sand, especially adapted for cement work. Plans and specifications for concrete work on the farm, may be had free for the asking.

Might be well to look after your chimneys before cold weather sets in. A few brick and a bag of cement may save your home from destruction. I have two grades of brick suitable for the work.

FARM AND ROAD IMPROVEMENT

CONSTRUCTION OF CORN CRIB

Modern Farmer Now Uses Elevator for Cribbing Crop—Section of Building Is Shown.

Modern machinery and methods have brought about great changes in harvesting the corn crop and the modern farmer now uses a corn elevator for cribbing his corn. In response to several inquiries and for the benefit of those who intend to build new cribs to be filled with an elevator we publish herewith a sectional drawing showing how the crib should be built, how the timbers should be placed and the various sizes of same, says the Iowa Homestead. The drawing shows a section of a 24-foot crib with a ten-foot driveway in the center and a grain bin over the drive. The length may be any size from 25 to 200 feet long. In building one of these cribs it must be remembered that the roof must have an angle of at least 45 degrees, that is, the slope of the same must be what is called half-pitch, meaning that the distance from the peak down to the plate must be half the width of the building. This steep roof is necessary to accommodate the corn conveyor and distributing spout which is hung directly from the rafters. For this reason care must be used not to have any cross ties higher up on the rafters than shown in the drawing. The studs are two by six inches set 24 inches on centers. The braces A, B and C are all two by six inches placed four feet on centers. The rafters are two by six inches set 24 inches on centers; the sills, if crib sets on piers, should be six by six inches or six by eight inches square. A tie rod one-half or five-eighths inches in diameter should be placed across the building ten feet apart, as shown. The guide boards are for distributing the corn evenly in the crib, but should not be nailed in place until the conveyor is installed, as in the distributing spouts in the various machines, the spout is so arranged that the center studs forming the driveway may be extended up above the plate line as much as three feet, increasing the capacity of the grain bin just that much. The roof may be covered with any material, but a good composition roof is recommended.

MATERIALS FOR GOOD ROADS

Exact Proportions of Sand and Clay Cannot Be Given Definitely Because of Variations.

The exact proportions of sand and clay for making the best sand-clay road cannot be stated, as the proportions vary with the character of the sand, according to its sharpness, percentage of foreign material and size of grains. Approximately, there is in a sand-clay road about eighty per cent. sand and twenty per cent. clay. One simple means of determining the theoretical amount of pure clay that should be added to any sand that is to be used in the construction of a sand clay road is to fill a glass tumbler brimfull with the sand that is to be used and then fill a similar tumbler with water; pour the water carefully onto the sand until the water comes flush with the surface, which will mean that all the voids between the grains of sand are now filled with water. The amount of water that has been poured into the tumbler containing the sand will represent the proportion of volume of clay that is necessary to add to that particular sand to fill all the voids with clay.

Having determined the source of supply of the best materials for making a sand-clay road, the next question is the mixing of the materials, and this varies with the character of the subsoil, whether this is a sand upon which clay is to be added or clay upon which sand is to be added. It will be found that it is much easier to make a sand-clay road where the subsoil is clay.

SUPPORT FOR THE TOMATOES

One Shown in Illustration, Used for Several Years, Has Given Entire Satisfaction.

The illustration herewith shows a tomato support that I have used several seasons with much satisfaction, as it takes so little time and trouble to place it, and performs its office so perfectly, writes Henry C. Little of Massachusetts in the Rural New Yorker. All that is required is three stakes 2½ feet long and one inch or more square, sharpened at one end, and notch cut on one side at the other, just sufficient to hold the hoop up, and two barrel hoops of different sizes; a sugar barrel hoop and a flour barrel hoop work well, or hoops from end and middle of flour barrel. Drive the three stakes on a slant on a circle around base of plant as much smaller than the smaller hoop's diameter as the difference in diameter of the two hoops. Place the larger hoop in place, in the notches on top, and then press in the smaller one till all is taut. At end of season I make a bundle of all the stakes, and another of the hoops, and hang up out of the way till wanted the next season. Mine have been used five seasons, and are still good.

POLE DRAG IS SERVICEABLE

Next Best Implement Where One Does Not Possess Land Roller—Easy of Construction.

If you don't possess a land roller, the next best thing is a pole drag. The one shown in the cut is better than a roller for leveling and pulverizing the soil. It is composed of three hardwood poles 6 inches through and 7 feet long, writes Fred O. Selby in the Farm and Home. They are fastened together about 2 feet apart by means of short pieces of chain.

To hold the seat a piece of board is bolted to the middle of the first pole and allowed to extend slightly beyond the last one. On top of this an old mowing machine seat is fastened, and the arrangement is such that while the seat is held in place the poles may work independently of each other. As the seat is bolted to the board, it can easily be removed, making the implement much easier to house when not in use. The drag should be drawn by a short piece of chain attached to the center of the first pole, as is indicated.

Good Roads & Farm Notes

It's the stray cockleburr that seeds the field for next year.

Never hoe or cultivate beans when the vines are wet with dew or rain.

A heavy crop of weeds will check the growth of the clover a great deal.

Blood meal is rich in protein, peas are much richer in protein than corn.

Corn planted to secure a large yield of ears makes the most valuable silage.

The seeding of rape and turnips in corn has become an established practice.

Sow some clover; if nowhere else, sow in corn after the cultivation is over.

Alfalfa will grow on nearly all good, well-drained soils, but best on a rich, sandy loam.

The only good way to shock grain is in round shocks with one or two cap sheafs on top.

Pick cucumbers often and clean. If permitted to mature and make seed, the productiveness of the vine stops.

Hoe, cultivate or rake the soil about once a week. Thus weeds will be killed before they have a chance to grow.

The sand vetch is smaller and more recumbent than the common vetch, and has been tested but little in this country.

Cypress is said to be the best material for wooden silo, as it possesses unusual weather and water resisting qualities.

Bear in mind that corn fodder, or fodder corn, must not be cut early for it means a los of a large part of its feeding value.

One lesson that the short hay crops of the past seasons have taught us is that a crop of hay can be raised along the roadside where weeds had their home before.

Stricken with paralysis while running his engine in the Lehigh Valley yards at Easton, Ervin Hile was removed to a hospital.

The council of the Daughters of the Revolution at Coudersport, Potter county, has appointed a committee to endeavor to have the name of Coudersport changed to Coudre, the better to commemorate the name of a famous Revolutionary soldier, for whom the town was named, but to which the affix "port" was added, eliminating the real meaning of the title.

WEALTH GOES TO HOUSEKEEPER

Bequest to Miss Faulkner Shuts Out All His Kin.

DR. E. G. STEMMETZ'S WILL

Estate Valued at $100,000 Left for Use Of Young Woman During Life—Residue Descends to the Niece.

Allentown.—The will of Dr. Edwin G. Stemmetz, of Hokendauqua, gives a piece of woodland to his brother, Oliver Stemmetz, of Nazareth, and his medicines and books to Margaret Kreglow. The residue of his estate, valued at more than $100,000, is given for life to Jennie Faulkner, who for the past 18 years was his housekeeper, to descend to Miss Kreglow, who is her niece. The will says that if any time the income is insufficient for the legatee, the executor is empowered to sell such parts of the estate as may be deemed necessary for her support. Dr. Stemmetz, who was 68 years old, died last week. He was one of the most prominent physicians of the Lehigh Valley, and in addition to caring for an immense practice had a fine capacity for business. He made his fortune largely through banking, but was also successful in other investments. He was a graduate of Bellevue and a post-graduate of Jefferson, and a member of the American State and Lehigh Valley Medical Societies. Mrs. Stemmetz, who died about 20 years ago, and Miss Faulkner were for a time great friends, but quarreled. Lawsuits are threatened thick and fast by the decedent's brothers, nephews and nieces, who were ordered out of the house just prior to the death of Dr. Stemmetz.

40 Years With Back Broken.

Warren.—That it is possible for a man to survive many years after having his back broken again has been proved in the life of George R. Owens, of this city, who lived 40 years after fracturing his spine. Owens died at the age of 60. While in the employ of the Wetmore Lumber Company, of this city, Owens sustained fractures of both legs, several ribs and the spinal column. For months he was confined to his bed, and it was then observed that the vertebrae of his spine were gradually knitting together and resuming their normal condition. Surgeons in various parts of the State were interested in his case and proclaimed his partial recovery remarkable.

Women Fight for Bees.

Pittsburgh.—Alderman Lowrey was called upon to decide a case of assault and battery in which bee stings were the main point at issue. According to evidence at a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Sarah Kerr took a spoon and the family dishpan and beat a merry tattoo to entice a vagrant swarm of bees in her back yard to drop into a large box. She was succeeding in her efforts when Mrs. Ella Williams, so Mrs. Kerr alleges, came from her house ringing a large bell. The bees paid no attention to the bell, and Mrs. Williams became angry, it is said, and struck the box. Both women were badly stung.

Dies Running from Bees.

York.—George Frey, 68 years old, met death while hiving a swarm of bees on his farm in Lower Windsor township. Although an expert bee handler, he was attacked by the bees and, in order to escape their stings he ran at full speed to the shelter of an outhouse, some two hundred feet away. The exertion and excitement caused his death from heart disease.

County Shy $400,000.

Sunbury.—Northumberland county's Board of Auditors reported to the County Commissioners that the annual interest on bonded indebtedness was $22,753.75 during the last year, or almost $2000 a month. The assets of the county for last year were only $354,177.30, while the liabilities aggregated $758,766.45. New bridges and repairs to old bridges cost over $104,000.

Justice Whales His Kicker.

Pittsburgh.—Magistrate McInerney committed William Parker to jail in default of bail on a charge of felonious assault. Parker broke away from the constables who held him and attempted to assault McInerney. After he had kicked the Magistrate in the abdomen McInerney turned to and gave to Parker an unmerciful beating. He then locked the prisoner up, but refused to prefer any additional charge.

Angler Drowns from Boat.

Warren.—Word was received here of the drowning of John R. Smith, aged 60 years, a resident of Clarendon, and a brother of Levi Smith, a wealthy oil refiner of Philadelphia, in the Allegheny River. Smith was one of a party spending the day fishing at Big Bend. The other members were his wife and niece, Clara Smith, of North Baltimore, Ohio. A boat in which the three were seated was overturned and Smith's head struck a large stone in the stream. His body floated away and was recovered later.

MARSHALL ACCEPTS HIS NOMINATION

Notified of Action of the Baltimore Convention.

DWELLS UPON UNREST.

Five Persons Were Seriously Injured and Forty Bruised and Cut in the Collapse Of a Grandstand Seating 300 People.

Indianapolis. — Seventy-five persons were injured, some seriously, when the grandstand behind the speakers' platform gave way and sank to the ground during the formal notification of Governor Marshall of his nomination as Democratic candidate for Vice-President.

The list of injured included State officials, Democratic organization officials and many private citizens. Approximately one-third of the injured persons were women.

THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

Judge Alton B. Parker, chairman of the notification committee, had proceeded with his address for about 10 minutes, when the great stand, 66 feet long and 30 feet wide, which had been set up on the asphalt pavement back of the speakers' platform, swayed twice and then went down, carrying with it more than 350 persons.

The gathering of Democrats was a notable one, including many celebrities from all sections of the United States.

Judge Parker, in the course of his address, said:

Judge Parker took his text from Governor Wilson's notification speech, wherein is considered the partnership between Government and privilege, pointing out that the Republican party could not be expected to break up the partnership, which resulted in large campaign contributions.

Judge Parker's contention that relief could come only from the election of Wilson and Marshall and a Democratic Congress followed an assignment of reasons which, he insisted, negatived all possibility of relief from either the Republican or the Progressive parties. He was especially caustic on Roosevelt.

Gov. Thomas R. Marshall in accepting the Democratic nomination for the Vice-Presidency, made a striking and eloquent address, in part, as follows:

Democrats, like poets, are born, not made. They are born with the fixed and unalterable belief that God made all men, not some men; that all men are entitled to an honest chance in life, unhampered and unharmed by law or custom. We may separate in language, church and state, but we can never have that social condition which we call democracy until all men living in the republic are full, not half, brothers.

All those who insist that it is not the business of government to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad to the manufacturer until it equalizes the difference in the purchase price to the consumer at home and abroad, who believe that the only equalization justifiable in our government is the equalization of opportunity, who think that public office is a public trust, who do not believe that disgruntled and defeated politicians are genuine reformers, and who think that reforms are not born with sore toes, may vote the Democratic ticket.

I urge all those who are opposed to special privilege to ally themselves this year with the historic Democracy, the cornerstone of whose edifice is the Declaration of Independence and the keystone of which is the Golden Rule.

At Baltimore it proved its right to be because there it arose and by its proposed policy met the needs and wants of a people.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

MAST TREES FOR THE CROWN

Mark of the Broad Arrow Was Placed on Pines in the Plymouth Colony.

In the provincial charter of 1691, under which the Plymouth colony and the province of Maine were united with Massachusetts, it was provided that all trees of the diameter of 24 inches and upward of 12 inches from the ground, growing upon land not heretofore granted to any private person, should be reserved to the crown for the furnishing of masts for the royal navy. Harper's Weekly observes.

A surveyor general of woods was appointed to see that this provision of the charter was carried into effect. Near the coast all white pines of suitable dimensions were marked with the "broad arrow"—three cuts through the bark with an ax, like the track of a crow. This was the king's mark.

Long after the revolution had obliterated the royal authority men who had been taught in boyhood to respect the king's mark hesitated to cut such trees.

In felling a tree it was necessary to "bed it" to prevent its breaking. This was done by cutting the small growth and placing small trees across the hollow, so that there should be no strain upon one section more than upon another when the monster pine struck ground.

The mast was hauled out of the woods on one strong sled, whether in winter or summer, and so many oxen were required that the hind pair were often choked in crossing a hollow, being hung up in their yoke by the pulling of those ahead of them.

A mast hauling was a great event, and everybody within walking distance came to see it.

Barber Shops in China.

Since the Chinese revolution a great many Chinese have had their cues cut off, and this has led to the opening of a large number of barber shops throughout the far east wherever Chinese are located, says an exchange. Several progressive business men of Singapore, anticipating this, imported a large number of American barber chairs, and they are now unable to get supplies quickly enough. It has also been learned that the Chinese insist on having American hair clippers, and refuse all other makes offered them.

It would seem that American manufacturers of barbers' supplies should experience a large increase in their Oriental trade.

Couldn't Happen to Them.

Mike got a job moving some kegs of powder, and, to the alarm of his foreman, was discovered smoking at his work.

"Je-ru-sa-lem!" exclaimed the foreman. "Do you know what happened when a man smoked at this job some years ago? There was an explosion that blew up a dozen men."

"That couldn't happen here," returned Mike calmly.

"Why not?"

"'Cause there's only you and me," was the reply."—Everybody's Magazine.

Polar Exploration.

North polar exploration had attracted the attention of adventurous and ambitious men for nearly 400 years before Peary reached the top of the world. Search for the south pole has always proved less attractive, and only during the last 140 years have explorers turned their attention toward the goal recently reached by Amundsen.

THE WAY OUT

Change of Food Brought Success and Happiness.

An ambitious but delicate girl, after failing to go through school on account of nervousness and hysteria, found in Grape-Nuts the only thing that seemed to build her up and furnish her the peace of health.

"From infancy," she says, "I have not been strong. Being ambitious to learn at any cost I finally got to the High School, but soon had to abandon my studies on account of nervous prostration and hysteria.

"My food did not agree with me, I grew thin and despondent. I could not enjoy the simplest social affair for I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of medicines.

"This wretched condition continued until I was twenty-five, when I became interested in the letters of those who had cases like mine and who were getting well by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had little faith but procured a box and after the first dish I experienced a peculiar satisfied feeling that I had never gained from any ordinary food. I slept and rested better that night and in a few days began to grow stronger.

"I had a new feeling and peace and restfulness. In a few weeks, to my great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me and life became bright and hopeful. I resumed my studies and later taught ten months with ease—of course using Grape-Nuts every day. It is now four years since I began to use Grape-Nuts, I am the mistress of a happy home, and the old weakness has never returned." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

AUTOMOBILE HAS A WING

French Motor Car Is Driven in the Same Manner as an Aeroplane.

A successful trial run was made recently from Paris to London, about 320 miles, by a motor car driven by a revolving wing, the Paris Figaro states.

The vehicle, which was designed by M. Bertrand de Lesseps, and is called the "winged car," has the appearance of an ordinary motor car, save that in front it is shaped like the prow of a ship. From the extremeity of the prow extends a shaft to which is attached the propeller—or revolving wing—invented by M. Filippi.

The wing is small, strong and thick and revolves within a protecting cage. The engine is of 40 horse power and rotates the wing by shaft and chain transmission.

There is no other mechanism, the wheels of the car being free, except for footbrakes. By the side of the driver is a single lever which controls the clutch and the forward and reverse movement of the wing. The wing can be reversed at a moment's notice, thereby forming an additional brake. In the trial runs a speed of 62 miles an hour was obtained with 2,100 revolutions of the wing a minute. One curious feature was that the car made no dust.

A Word to the Wise.

The proverbial advice, "Cobbler, stick to your last," had an apposite exemplification in the following anecdote, for which Zion's Advocate is responsible:

A colored man was brought before a police judge, charged with stealing chickens. He pleaded guilty, and received sentence, when the judge asked how it was he managed to lift those chickens right under the window of their owner's house when there was a dog in the yard.

"Hit wouldn't be of no use, judge," said the culprit, "to try to 'splain dis thing to you all. Ef you was to try it, like as not you would git yer hide full o' shot, an' git no chickens, neither. Ef you want to engage in any rascality, judge, yo' bettah stick to de bench, whar yo' am familiar."

Diplomacy.

"Mrs. Jinks always has such a good time when she goes anywhere. How does she manage to convey the impression she is a widow?"

"She always makes an allusion to her tardy husband as 'my late husband.'"

SHERMAN TOLD OF HIS NOMINATION

First Man Twice Nominated for Vice President.

THE NOTIFICATION AT UTICA.

Declares Oblivion Awaits Third Party and That Republican Convention Was Open and Fair.

Utica, N. Y.—Vice-President James S. Sherman, the first man to be twice nominated by the Republican party for the office he now fills, was formally notified at his home here Wednesday that he was again the choice of a Republican National Convention.

"This distinction was not sought by me," said the Vice-President, after United States Senator George Sutherland, of Utah, had delivered the speech of notification, "but unsolicited, it is the more appreciated. I cannot but recognize your message as a mandate I must obey."

James S. Sherman.

The ceremony was in the open air in Roscoe Conklin Park. Mr. Sherman was escorted to the place by a procession of Republican Clubs.

In his speech accepting the nomination the Vice-President declared that his party was fortunate "in the fact that our opponents are divided into two camps."

"The new party," he said, "thrusts itself forward into the vacuum left by the phantoms of other third parties, which have passed into oblivion. Oblivion, too, awaits it."

Of Governor Wilson he said: "The Democratic candidate is Bryan and Parker over again without the oratory of the one or the legal training of the other, but with the free-trade prejudices of both seemingly intensified."

Most of Senator Sutherland's speech, aside from a short declaration of principles of the Republican party and a tribute to Mr. Sherman, was composed of caustic reference to the Progressive party and its recent convention which nominated Colonel Roosevelt and Gov. Hiram Johnson for President and Vice-President.

Vice-President Sherman, in accepting the nomination, said in part:

"The crime of this 'new age' is frenzied speech and action, lack of thought, a spurning of deliberation and of the weighing of consequences. Fakers with projects to 'get rich quick' draw gaping crowds. Mad haste is the pastime of the multitude. Automobiles race to carry their passengers to death at a mile a minute. The British Board of Trade attributes the awful sinking of the Titanic, with its cruel sacrifice of life, of crew and passengers, to excessive speed. The third-term party and Candidate Wilson urge the country to like disaster and ruin."

A fleet of seven aeroplanes is being gathered at the army aviation field, College Park, Md., where the training of young aviators will be resumed.

James M. Brenton, former mayor of Des Moines, Ia., who was a delegate to the Progressive Convention at Chicago, died in a hospital in Chicago.

L. N. Dunn, of King Mills, O., was so badly stung by a nest of bees that he was rendered unconscious and is in a critical condition.

During a thunderstorm at Macon, Ga., Sunday two persons were killed and two others were injured by lightning.

The wife of Walter Klem, a Philadelphia banker, is mute from fright since a burglar entered her room in her cottage at Chelsea, N. J., and carried off $12,000 worth of jewelry, but she could not give an alarm.

COMMERCIAL

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"The industrial and trade situation fully maintains its recent improvement and a further advance in activity is noted in the reports from the leading centres.

"Everything points to a continuance of the present activity in iron and steel, and the advancing trend of quotations promises increased profits to the producer. Consumers of pig iron are devoting a good deal more attention to their requirements for the first half of next year, but future business is not readily accepted unless higher prices are offered.

"Although the demand for footwear shows further improvement, the enhanced prices asked by manufacturers still cause much conservatism on the part of buyers. All kinds of leather continue in good demand, without any very large transactions, tanners still refusing to contract ahead in any considerable quantity at present quotations."

Opening Up Lhasa.

Lhasa, which is the capital of Tibet, for generations was known as the Forbidden City, because of its political and religious exclusiveness. In 1904 a British armed expedition opened the mysterious old city. Previous to that time practically every European traveler had been stopped in his efforts to reach the place. The population is Lhasa is about 35,000.

BLUEJAY LIVES IN WOODS

Hawks, Owls and Other Birds Are Teased and Tormented by These Noisy Birds.

The bluejay likes best to live in thick woods, but it often comes into open fields, orchards and near dwellings in search of food. When it discovers you it assumes a proud and angry air of conceit and defiance.

The bluejay's upper parts are purplish-blue. The lower parts are purplish-gray. The wings and tail are bright blue with black bars. The tail feathers are tipped with white. It has a crested head.

The bluejay builds its nest about twenty feet above ground. It is made of twigs and fine roots. From four to six eggs are laid. They are of a greenish drab color flecked with brown.

Doubtless the bluejay helped to name itself, as its common utterance is a long drawn, "jay, jay, jay." This cry, with the bright blue color, has given it its name.

While the jay sings no song it is able to imitate the calls of other birds, by which means it often attracts them. It likes to tease and torment the owl and especially the little sparrow hawk. This is done by imitating the cry of a wounded bird, which draws the hawk near. Then several jays will dart at the hawk squealing and frolicking about in great glee. Sometimes the play ends in a tragedy, for the hawk pounces upon one of them to the dismay of the others. Jays may be caged and tamed like crows and some writers say they can be taught to utter words. —"Bird Studies," by Herman C. De Groat.

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Warrenton, Va.—"My little girl was troubled with eczema for three years. Her hands burned and itched and looked as if they were scalded. She could not sleep at night; I had to be up all night to keep her hands in warm water. She rubbed her hands and large white blisters came full of yellow water. Then sores came and yellow corruption formed. She could not take hold of anything with her hands. I used an ointment and tried a treatment, but nothing did her any good, so I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After bathing her hands with the Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment I was astonished to see the great relief, and Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment cured her hands in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. John W. Wines, Mar. 8, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

Sounds So.

"How oddly that man cleaning the machinery talks."

"How do you mean?"

"I heard him telling his helper to save the waste."

The woman who cares for a clean, wholesome mouth, and sweet breath, will find Paxtine Antiseptic a joy forever. At druggists, 25c a box or sent postpaid on receipt of price by The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

Paradoxical Effect.

"There was so much fire in her eyes."

"There always is when she is put out."

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE?

Try Hicks' CAPUDINE. It's liquid—pleasant to take—effects immediate—good to prevent Sick Headaches and Nervous Headaches also. Your money back if not satisfied. 10c., 25c. and 50c. at medicine stores.

After Dark.

"Honest as the day is long, eh?"

"Absolutely. But you'd better keep your chicken coop locked."

And many a girl who starts out with the intention of making a name for herself winds up by turning the job over to some man.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

Odd, Va.:—"I am enjoying better health than I have for 20 years, and I believe I can safely say now that I am a well woman. I was reared on a farm and had all kinds of heavy work to do which caused the troubles that came on me later. For five years during the Change of Life I was not able to lift a pail of water. I had hemorrhages which would last for weeks and I was not able to sit up in bed. I suffered a great deal with my back and was so nervous I could scarcely sleep at night, and I did not do any housework for three years.

"Now I can do as much work as any woman of my age in the county, thanks to the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I recommend your remedies to all suffering women."—Mrs. MARTHA L. HOLLOWAY, Odd, Va.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

We Lead You

To Fortune and Happy Life

in California

Messrs. J. S. & W. S. Kuhn, the Pittsburgh bankers, are doing in the Sacramento Valley what the U. S. Government is doing elsewhere for the people.

There is ten times more net profit per acre in California irrigated land than in the East and with less labor.

Let us take you where there is comfort and happiness besides profit, climate equal to that of Southern Italy, no frosts nor snow, no thunderstorms nor sunstrokes.

Let us take you where big money is now being made, markets are near, demand for products great and income is sure.

Let us take you where railroad and river transportation is near, where there are denominational churches and graded schools.

Now is the time to buy this land—get in with the winners, the great Panama Canal will soon be ready and you can share in its triumphs; farms are selling rapidly, and we strongly urge you to purchase as soon as possible.

You can buy this land on very easy terms—$15.00 an acre now and the balance in ten yearly payments.

Give us an opportunity to take up all details with you—write us now.

Let us send you our fine illustrated printed matter telling all about it. Write for it at once—it gives you absolute proofs.

DEATHS

Col. John I. Jack died at Long Beech, California, aged seventy-three years, nine months. Interment was made at Harlin, Iowa. Col. Jack was a native of Harris township, having been born in Boalsburg.

At the opening of the Civil War Mr. Jack organized a company and was made its lieutenant. Later he enlisted in the Forty-sixth Regiment, became captain of his company, and finally promoted to the rank of colonel.

After the war Col. Jack went into the oil fields of Pennsylvania, and later to Iowa, locating permanently at Harlin.

In addition to his wife he is survived by three children: Mrs. Grace Jack Hall, wife of Major Hall, of the Twelfth U. S. infantry; George E., of Harlin, Iowa, and John Philip, of Seattle, Washington.

Ira J. Lee, a native of Centre county, died suddenly of heart failure at his home in Greenwood, Nebraska, aged sixty years.

Mr. Lee was born and raised in Centre county, and will be remembered by many older acquaintances and friends who will mourn his death. He went to Nebraska twenty-nine years ago and prospered in that country, being an upright, honored and progressive citizen. His wife preceded him in death a little over a year ago, leaving three sons and two daughters. One sister, Mrs. Arthur R. Wasson, of State College, also survives.

Mr. Lee was formerly a resident of Centre Hall and was employed in the carriage shops conducted by the late Levi Murray.

After suffering for nearly three years with cancer and undergoing two operations at the hospital, the last one in June of this year, Mrs. Nancy Brickley, wife of O. W. Brickley, residing in Lock Haven, died Wednesday of last week. She had lived in Lock Haven for the past ten years, having previously lived at Howard, where she was born and reared. She was aged fifty-six years, and leaves her husband and four children, as follows: Howard, Mahala, Samuel and Ada, all at home. Two brothers and one sister also survive—George Long, of Milton; William Long, of Howard, and Mrs. James Hayes, of Howard.

LOCALS

The State College and Bellefonte lodges, I. O. O. F., will hold a picnic on Hunters Park, on Labor Day.

Mrs. S. R. Kamp, of Lock Haven, last week was entertained at the home of Hon. Leonard Rhone, in Centre Hall.

Dr. Charles T. Aikens, president of Susquehanna University, and son, are back from a two months tour through Europe.

Prominent citizens of Clinton county are dreaming of a county fair for Clinton county, with Agar Park as the site for it.

A small fire occurred in the house of Simon King, on North street, Thursday, says the Millheim Journal. The inside of the building was considerably damaged. The building was insured.

Earl M. Grove, who for some years has been connected with the United States Weather Bureau, at Wagonwheel Gap, Colorado, has been transferred to Ludington, Michigan, and is continuing in the same service.

Mrs. Crust, widow of the late William E Crust, of Spring township, has about concluded the arrangements whereby she will come into possession of the John W. Eby farm, east of Centre Hall, now tenanted by N. B Shaffer.

This from the Freeport (Illinois) Bulletin: Mrs. Thomas Brungart and daughter Ella, who have been visiting George Carmon of Harlem, brother of Mrs. Brungart, have left for their home at Rebersburg, Pa. They will visit in Chicago and other places on their way.

Hon. Leonard Rhone, J. J. Arney, W. A. Krise, D. K. Keller, James Keller, George Gingerich, Cloyd Brooks, Mrs. D. W. Bradford and Miss Florence Rhone were the members of Progress Grange who attended the meeting of Pomona Grange at Oak Hall last Thursday.

Forester Meuller, on Nittany Mountain, reports dogs are chasing the few deer on Nittany Mountain, also the rabbits, turkeys and other game birds. He has been hunting the dogs with a Winchester, but prefers that owners keep them tied up. This notice ought to induce dog-owners to be more cautious, and thereby avoid the loss of their dogs and escape the penalty.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith, of Blue Ball, near Penn's Cave, with their daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Lucas, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Smith, and little daughter, of Nevada, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reish, in Centre Hall, on last Sunday. Mr. Reish being a brother to Mrs. Smith, Sr. Mrs. Frank Smith, besides visiting at the home of her husband's parents and other relatives, will visit the home of her parents at Jersey City, New Jersey, before returning to the state of Nevada. Claiming New Jersey as her native state, she is an ardent admirer of Gov. Wilson, the Democratic candidate for president. Mr. Smith is also a Wilson enthusiast.

The Laurelton correspondent to the Lewisburg Journal forwarded these items of local interest: The following party from near Spring Mills, took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Bingaman last Friday, remaining till Saturday afternoon, when they drove on to Daniel Catherman's and later to George Catherman's, returning home sometime Monday: Mrs. Bingaman's nephews Dr. H. F. Bitner, of Centre Hall, Joseph K. Bitner, and two nieces Mrs. Susan Myers, Penn Hall, and Mrs. Blanche Long, of Newark, Ohio. The party came in their own conveyance and took dinner in the mountains. . . . . Mrs. Milford Luse and daughter Miss Helen, of Centre Hall, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kerstetter this week, returning home Saturday afternoon.

GRANGE ENCAMPMENT AND FAIR.

Opens Saturday, September 14, and Continues for One Week—Exhibits of Machinery and Products of the Farm a Strong Feature.

The twenty-ninth annual Grange Encampment and Fair will open on Grange Park, Centre Hall, Saturday, September 14th, and closes the following Friday. There is every indication that the affair will not only equal but exceed in many ways the former gatherings. A number of improvements have been made on the grounds, a larger number of tents than heretofore will be set up, the tent equipments have been increased, all exhibit buildings have been improved, and everything is being put into the best of shape for the approaching gathering.

The exhibits of machinery, agricultural implements, farm stock, and the products of the farm, orchard, garden and vineyard will be made a strong feature. The entertainments in the auditorium will be first-class and the addresses will be of a character especially of interest to the farmers as a class.

The Harvest Home services on Sunday, September 15th, will be conducted by the State Secretary of Agriculture N. B. Critchfield.

WANTED: 50 MEN AND WOMEN

To Take Advantage of Special Offer Made by Murray & Bitner.

Murray & Bitner the enterprising druggists are advertising today for fifty men and women to take advantage of the special half price offer they are making on Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia and get a fifty cent package at half price 25 cents.

So positive are they of the remarkable power of this specific to cure these diseases as well as sick headaches and liver troubles, that they agree to refund the money to any customer whom the medicine does not quickly relieve and cure.

With Dr. Howard's specific at hand, you can eat what you want and have no fear of ill consequences. It strengthens the stomach, gives perfect digestion, regulates the bowels, creates an appetite and makes life worth the living.

If you cannot call at Murray & Bitner's store send them 25 cents by mail and they will send you a package promptly, charges paid.

Murray & Bitner have been able to secure only a limited supply of the specific, so great is the demand, and you should not delay taking advantage of this liberal offer they are making this week.

Beginning of the week found much oats uncut in Penns Valley, and much of the oats cut remained on shock.

"I was cured of diarrhoea by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes M. E. Gebhardt, Oriole, Pa. There is nothing better. For sale by all dealers.
